

To households exempt from residence tax in FY2026 Regarding Repayment Exemption for the Special Loan for Emergency Small Amount Funds, etc.

If your residence tax for FY2026 (2026) is exempt from both the per capita levy and the income levy, you can apply for an exemption for the remaining scheduled repayment amount.

This guide is not enclosed for loans past their repayment deadline.

1 Check the chart below to find which category applies to you.

2 Check if you are eligible to apply based on your category.

- A ⇒ Not eligible for repayment exemption under this requirement.
However, people receiving welfare benefits and those who hold a Class 1 Mental Health and Welfare Certificate or a Class 1 or 2 Physical Disability Certificate can also apply for an exemption.
- B or C ⇒ You can apply for repayment exemption.
Please send the required documents and application form to the address below.

[Required documents] B = (1)–(3), C = (1)–(2) and (4)

(1) Repayment Exemption Application Form (Download from the Saitama Prefectural Council of Social Welfare website)

* If you are unable to download the form, please contact us at 050-2018-1839.

(2) Original Certificate of Residence (Juminhyo) (copies not accepted).

Only Certificates of Residence with the following information are valid.

- States "All household members" and "Head of household"
- Issued within the last 3 months

(3) Original of your FY2026 (2026) Tax Exemption Certificate (copies not accepted)

(4) Originals of the FY2026 (2026) Tax Exemption Certificates for you and the head of the household (copies not accepted for either)

* The timing for obtaining the FY2026 tax exemption certificate varies by municipality.
